RICHMOND CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 27, 1916. NUMBER 305.

RICHMOND IS TERMINAL OF BAY DREDGE

OAKLAND, Jan. 26—Looking to further improvement of Oakland harbor, by adding to the Rees plan the dredging of a deep watrway from the bay into the Key Route basin, is asked by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, who last night adopted a resolution calling upon Congress to make provision for the work. The resolution will be forwarded to Senator Phelan, Congressman Elston and Lieutenant-Colonel Thomas H. Rees of the War Department.

Colonel Rees' plan (approved by all Oakland organizations several months ago, calls for the construction of a quay wall the entire length of the western waterfront from the Long wharf to the city of Richmond, the whole systems of docks and wharves covered with electric cranes to facilitate the loading and unloading of ships and warehouses for the storage of cargoes.

This plan has been presented to Congress, and has the support of the California delegation for a federal appropriation to carry it out. If put into efect, this system would make this side of the bay one of the world's greatest harbors.

CONTRACT FOR R. H. S. WORK NOT LET

The meeting of the High School Board at which the contract for the enlargement of the gymnasium and other improvements was to have been awarded was postponed. No date has been set for another meeting but it is supposed that the work will be let at the regular meeting of the board Monday, February 7th.

He was taken to the newly completed emergency hospital at the company's works where he received treatment. The accident occured at about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

RICHMOND CITY HALL CASE IS OVER AGAIN

The hearing on the application for an injunction in the Richmond city hall case, which was to have come up in Department No. 2 Tuesday morning has again been continued for one week.

CHARLES BROWN HAS TURNED INVENTOR

Charles Brown, our well known local contractor has entered a new line of endeavor and if his plans turn out as he expects Richmond may soon be honored with the presence of an inventor with a very marketable commodity which is to be manufactured at a factory which will be erected in this city.

Mr. Brown has secured the services of F. G. Moltoza and is working out a device which he will presently patent which will be a boon to automobilists. The accessory has several advantages not to be found in similar sparatus and Brown thinks he has struck something that will sell like wildfire once it is placed on the market. Moltoza is one of the most versatile mechanics in the city and under his upervision the working out of the new device is progressing satisfactorily.

EPIDEMIC OF LA GRIPPE IS REPORTED

Dr. C. E. Camp of San Pablo announces that an epidemic of sore throats and la grippe has broken out in that section of the county. Six or eight cases are at present being attended and many more or cold and cough of less serious nature.

SEWING CLUB AT BERKELEY

The following Richmond young ladies journeyed to Berkeley last evening to attend a sewing party at the home of a friend of one of the members of the local club to which they belong: Misses Hazel Myer, Vera Olem, Ida Hansen, Emily Howard, Violet Holt, Hulda Holt Edith Howard, Ida Claus and Stella Claus.

BULGARS FACE TO FACE WITH THE ALBANIANS

LONDON, January 26—Bulgarian forces are said to have advanced into cetral Albania and to have come in contact with Albanian troops under Essad Pasha, provision president of Albania; who is co-operating with the entente allies.

Dispatches from Tirana, Albania, to Brindisi, Italy, as forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph Company, say that an advance guard of the Bulgarians has been defeated near Elbasan by Essad Pasha's forces.

A man who moralizes is usually a hypocrite and a woman who moralizes is invarably plain.

CITY IS BACK OF JEWISH RELIEF MOVE

Today is the day that has been set aside by the President of the United States when funds for the relief of the stricken Hebrew people in Europe. The movement as met with the unqualified approval of the people of Richmond anl it is likely that a large sum will be gathered and forwarded to headquarters.

The money collected is all to be spent in the United States. Not one cent in United States coin is to leave this country. This means that all of funds collected will ibe spent for food clothing and other necessities of life with American merchants and not foreign.

Following is the proclamation issued by the president.

Whereas, I feel confident that the people of the United States will be moved to aid the war-stricken people of a race which has given to the United States so many worthy citizens.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, in compliance with the suggestion of the senate thereof, do appoint and proclaim January 27, 1916, as the day upon which the people of the United States may make such contributions as they feel disposed for the aid of the stricken Jewish people.

For the first time in the history of the world it is said, have Jewish people sanctioned the appeal to Christians for relief. The situation in Poland is terrible.

"Since the destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem," says the New York Sun, "the Jewish people have had no darker page in their history than that which the Russian Government is writing today. Six million Jews, one half of the Jewish people throughout the world, are being persecuted, hounded, humiliated, tortured, starved. Thousands of them have been slaughtered. Hundreds of thousands of Jews, old men, women and children, are being driven mercilessly from town to town—driven by the government, attacked by the troops of their own country, plundered and outraged.

Splendid work is being done in Richmond for the relief of the Far Eastern suffers. Every man, woman and child of the city has heard the cry of the stricken people, and is doing his or her best to swell the fund for relief. Bankers, lawyers, merchants of all business and professions, stenographers, sales women in department stores, day laborers, stevedores, men who earn small pittances in the performance of hard labor, and the small boys and girls of the grammar schools, are all contributing their mite, what ever it is.

BACK TO STOCKTON

Miss Gertrude Kenny has returned to her home in Stockton after visiting her sister Mrs. S. P. Cain in this city for the past three weeks.

REAR AXEL OF POLICE AUTO IS BROKEN

Only the slow speed at which Officer Wylie of the local police department was driving prevented a serious accident at 5:30 o'clock last evening when the rear axel of the automobile patrol wagon which he was driving broke in two causing one of the wheels to come completely off the machine.

Wylie was returning from a trip to the city hall with the machine and was driving along a stretch of Cutting Boulevard when the accident occured. The machine was empty except for the officer who was not hurt. The machine was not damaged aside from the broken rear axel.

ONETAHS HAD SUCCESSFUL PARTY

The whist party given by Onetah Council, Degree of Pocahontas at Pythian Castle last evening was a complete success. A large crowd attended the affair in spite of the inclement weather and the refreshments and dancing which followed were much enjoyed by all.

The first prize was won by Miss Alice Warrillow, and the second by Mrs. O. Engloom.

The committee which arranged the affair consisted of Mrs. Helen Warrillow, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Marie McNeil, and Miss Alice Warrillow.

LADIES NIGHT IS GIVEN BY STAGS

A large attendance marked the regular monthly open meeting night of the Stags held at W. O. W. hall last evening as one of the most successful given by the lodge recently.

The committee which made the arrangements for the affair consisted of the following members:

H. E. Summerville, R. B. Summerville, Fred P. Roeder, "Parcel Post Pete" and F. Swan.

An entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental musical numbers was rendered prior to the dance. A most enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

TURKS TELL NEW BRITISH REVERSAL

Berlin, January 26—An official Turkish statement received here today says British forces in Mesopotamia made another attack upon the Turks, but gave up the effort after sustaining appalling losses.

It's the unexpected which always happens, especially when you are expecting good luck.

CANDIDATES FOR BOOSTER DIRECTORS ARE SELECTED

The nominating committee for the directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce met last night in the office of Senator J. C. Owens. A list of names to be voted on at a meeting scheduled for Friday evening and consisting of thirteen members was selected.

The committee attempted to choose names which would be representative of all factions with no partiality towards any. There are at present one hundred and twenty seven members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although the slogan "Two Hundred by March the First" was adopted when the movement first started it is now the belief of the boosters that they should have set their mark somewhat higher and made it five hundred instead.

HELEN ADD BENNIE BAIRD MAKE FIRST DONATION FOR KUCHIE CHILD

To Bennie and Helen Baird, two small kiddies, belongs the credit of being the first to respond to the movement which has been started to raise sufficient funds for hospital expenses for little eight year old Francis Kuchia whose sight may be saved providing an operation is performed before the case progresses further. Bennie and Helen came in to the News office yesterday afternoon and contributed their mite willingly in order that another child of their own age might enjoy the halt of a blessing which they enjoy in full, namely the sight of one of her eyes, the other being totally blind and now beginning to effect the nerves of the other. The two little ones imbued with the spirit of human kindness which makes good men and women, doubtless ignored childish pleasures involving no inconsidera. ble sacrifice by giving their portion to the good cause, and whether thi s be the case or not they manifested a truly Christian spirit which might well be followed by many more of us.

Let some more of us display this willingness to do our parts towards alleviating the threatened affliction of this childish sufferer.

Reverend D. W. Calfee, Humane Officer, announced last evening that Miss Mabel Woodward, Assistant Humane officer and one of the most active members of the local corps, has taken up the case and will presently seek subscriptions for the little girl's relief among Richmond residents.

Unsolicited charity however, is always the more acceptable. Let us make these donations voluntarily and the deed will assuredly be the more praise worthy.

HARRY PULSE PUTS ONE OVER ON GEORGE BROWN

Harry Pulse has slipped a good one over on George Brown who manages the Richmond Auto and Taxi company.

It seems that Harry and George had up a little bet to the effect that neither would be married within a stated period and that the one who broke the contract would have to buy the other a hat,—price size shape or color not stipulated.

In reality Harry, who returned today with his bride from Los Angeles, lost, but whether he was the winner or the loser is a matter that is open for discussion.

Last evening Brown received the hat—but oh what a looking lid it was—a Charlie Chaplin Derby, with a rubber on it that goes under the chin like a school girl's bonnet. We're all watching George today to see whether he is going to sally forth in the daylight and let the populace see how he looks—in the role of the funniest man in America.

Pulse says that the roads are very poor down about Los Angeles which is the reason for his shipping the automobile in which he and his bride expected to complete their honeymoon, and returning to this city by rail.

The newlyweds will take up their residence at the Edenia apartments.

EX-CONTRA COSTAN STRICKEN ILL

General Theodore Wagner, noted soldier of the Civil War and one time surveroy general of California, is critically ill in his home in Santa Rosa and little hope is entertained for his recovery.

General Wagner was many years ago a resident of Contra Costa county and in 1892 was a candidate for Assemblyman but was defeated by H. F. Emeric. He was in official life during the early days of the Sobrante rancho litigation and was active in affairs pertaining to that vast property.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY WHIST PARTY

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will give a whist party at Woodman hall Wednesday afternoon February 9th. A number of desirable prizes will be awarded for the highest scores. Refreshments will be served following the playing of cards and an admission of twenty five cents will be charged.

STORM CLOSES DIABLO BOULEARD

The rains of the past thirty days have tied up all work in the Mount Diablo scenic boulevard system.

While the highway rising out of Tyuscio Valley was finished last November the storms have washed down considerable of the hillsides and made the route impassable at present.

Work on the new highway that is offering an easy grade from Diablo Park to the summit has been abandoned until the rain ceases.

DIRECTOR PORTER'S RESIGNATION

Both the State and the State's Prisoners Are the Losers by It

A kindly, painstaking man, conscientiously striving for such justice as seemed obtainable, leaning toward mercy when other considerations were evenly balanced, a friend of many men who had nothing but their misfortune to recommend hemselves to him—such has been the impression made by Warren R. Porter in his work as a State Prison Director. His resignation costs the State an official who locked up his politics each time he undertook the duties of his position and did not take them out again until his duties were completed; it costs the prisoners one sympathetic member of the official group which has control over his destinies.

This newspaper, like Governor Johnson, has not agreed with Director Porter's political views, and the importance of that devergence was strongly emphasized in years past. But neither politics nor economics cover the whole sweep of life. In Director Porter's work on he Prison Board much has been found to admire and agree. Whatever his philosophy of crime may have been, he acted upon the principle that a man in prison is very much like a man out of prison, and that a prisoner gets along better if the people who have authority over him try to understand him and help him. Mr. Porer has always been ready to listen to an appeal for mercy in a particular case, and in more instances than he my be given credit for he made careful investigations on his own initiative in order to justify a merciful action.

Such a body as the State Board of Prison Directors depends a great deal upon the traditions established by successive members. The same law may be given a just or unjust direction by the use to which it is put. Director Porter has contributed to a sane and helpful construction of the present law. He has helped to put upon it a stamp of increasing humanity and humanness, and this will outlast his actual tenure of office.

ARTHUR HENDERSON ON LABOR POSITION

In his recent statement on the present position and future prospects of labor, as published a few days ago. Arthur Henderson, the British Labor leader, drew attention to several points of more than ordinary interest and importance. Mr. Henderson may lack some of the brilliance and fire of several of his colleagues in the labor world, but when it comes to summing up a situation calmly and dispassionately, he does so with a simple directness which is as effective as it is welcome. From the commencement of the war he said, the forces of industrial democracy had everywhere ralied to the support of the Allies, and there was amongst them today, generally speaking, but one great desire, and that was to do their utmost to carry the war to a successful issue.

Such an attitude, he maintained, was of course wholly good and wise as long as it was not allowed to blind them to the fact that, after the war was over, there would be great problems to be faced and that the end of the war would be no means mark the inauguration of a time of ease, but rather of a time of much more strenuous labor. It needs little reflection to see that the wholesale destruction of wealth which is going on before our eyes must profoundly affect the future of the workers, Mr. Henderson said, and then he went on to insist that, when the war is over, Europe will be faced with a gigantic work of reconstruction, and that it is the duty of labor everywhere to see to it that in that great work their rights are safeguarded and their just demands satisfied.

Mr. Henderson did not attempt any forecast as to what shape this great reorganization would take. No one, as yet, can even outline its beginnings, but, in insisting on the fact that they had great work before them, Mr. Hederson clerely took a useful and very necessary line. A great danger in the case of any great catclysm of all kinds and all political and social beliefs, is the conviction which almost u consciously grows up that, when it is over, something very like the millinnium will at once open out, something very like the millennium will at once open out. It has been said more than once, during the last eighteen months, that the time for men to hold together more than ever will be when the war is over, and there can be no question that this is true enough. Mr Henderson is, therefore, more than justified in calling attention to the necessity for labor to be on the watch. We could have wished, however, that Mr. Henderson had gone further in the matter; had in fact taken the still more comprehensive view that was possible, and, whilst insisting that labor must watch out for its own interests that it must above all things watch out for the interests of all.

Later on in his statement Mr. Henderson says that the return of peace will mean the renewal of many old struggles, and that labor can only face them victoriously if, after the war, it is animaed by the spirit it has shown during the war, by unfailing loyalty to its ideas, and by a firm resolution to maintain its unity unimpaired. Labor, however, has done very much more than this. The feeling which is animating labor at this moment is not parochial, and it is, at any rate, an open question whether it would not have been he counsel of a greater wisdom for labor to recognize that, whilst the task before it after the war will be a great task, it will not, and indeed cannot be the same task, with the same problems, as before the war. Labor, Mr. Henderson says, has established its right to be regarded as an integral, elemen in national affairs. After the war it will have to retain the position it has achieved. It is quite clear of course, that labor has achieved the recognition it has, achieved, not because it has compelled recognition of its rights, but because it has placed the technical skill of the artisan, the laborer of the skilled laborer, the extraordinary organizing ability of its leaders, all its resources, in fact, ungrudgingly at the public service. It is, of course, by continuing to do all these things when the war is over, and not by immediately dropping the idea of "helpful service" as a mere temporary war measure, that labor will most effectively retain the position it has gained.

Those who are in close touch with public affairs and have made it their business during the past years, to know something of men and things, know that already there is, in many cases, nothing left of the atmosphere on which so many of these problems depended for their existance. The champions of many "burning questions" in all branches of human activity would, we imagine, do well to take note hat many of these matters have already ceased to be questions and that, when the war is over, men will concede many things as a matter of course, will indeed hasten to see that they are conceded, over which before the war, they would have entertered into high discussion. Labor needs to enlarge its borders. It needs to welcome all men, as all men who are men need to find a place within its pale. It needs to watch and watch from this standpoint of universal service, for indeed there is no other standpoint from which so true a perspective may be obtained.

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD AND SYDNEY GRANT IN "JANE" AT THE RICHMOND THEATER

When "Jane," Lestocque's immortal comedy classic, was originally produced with Charles Hawtrey and Lottie Venne at the Comedy Theatre, London, Herbert Standing was a prosperous actor-manager at the famous Criterion Theater in association with Sir Charles Wyndham. It is an interesting coincidence, therefore, that in Oliver Morosco's forthcoming filmization of "Jane," his first presentation upon the screen, one of the biggest personal hits is registered by this same Herbert Standing who is now living his life over again, so to speak, in motion pictures in California. With Charlotte Greenwood and Sydney Grant, the popular Broadway favorites, as the stars "Jane" is coming to the Richmond theater today.

Another popular cartoon, Alad. din and the Wonderful Lamp" and the two reel Vitagraph thriller, "The Gypsy Trail" makes a very pleasing bill.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF CO. LIBRARY

The report for the last quarter, October, November and December of the county library is at hand. The statistics are interesting because they show the three sides of county library work. The first division, office records shows the number of requests received, number of books sent and returned, number of shipments from the office and the number of volumes now out. The second, Accession Records shows the number of books that have been bought, processed and accessioned and cataloged in each of the three collections, branches, schools and supplementary readers. The third division, Circulation Records, shows the circulation from all the branches and deposits in fiction, non-fiction and periodicals. No circulation statistics are taken from the schools as many of the books are used in the classroom for supplementary reading. There are now 59 places receiving books, 12 branches, 18 deposits, 27 schools and two high schools. Each of these places has a separate account in the county library office, entirely kept on cards. Besides the records of each book kept by author and subject, there is a record of each branch or school showing just what books it has, and still another card record showing just what branches have a given book. With 14,025 books around the county in branches and schools, an exact system of accounting is of first importance.

The statistical report reads as follows:

Office records: October to December 1915.

Requests—Branches, 586; schools, 930; total 1516. Books sent—Branches, 1809; schools, 1593; total 3402. Books returned—Branches 920; schools, 113; total 1033. Number of shipments—Branches 156; schools, 110; total 266. Number of volums in circulation — Branches 7142; schools, 6883; total 14,025.

Accession records:

General collections, September added, 7735; October, 411; November, 415; December, 706; total added, 1532; total 9267. School collections, September added, 3166; October 192; November, 70; December, 90; total added, 352; total 3518. Supplementary, September added, 4941; October, 253; November, 239; December, 70; total added, 562; total 5503.

By gift, general, 90; school, 4; pictures added 1162.

Circulation record: Fiction, 13,305; non-fiction, 1513; periodicals, 1222; juvinals, 1583; total 15,040.

Towns circulating over 1000—Martinez, 1891; Antioch, 1889; Concord, 1692; Walnut Creek, 1680; Pittsburg, 1607; Brentwood, 1176; San Pablo, 1015.

NEW HOTEL COMPLETED ON THE SITE OF HISTORICAL STUCTURE

Shortly after the discovery of gold in 1848 by James Marshall at Sutters Mill, now known as Colma, one William Cary erected a frame hotel building in the mining camp known in early days as "Hangtown" now designated on the maps a sPlacerville.

Early in 1856 the entire camp, with the exception of two stone buildings were burned to the ground a few monthe later Cary began the construction of a three story brick building on the site of the burned hostelry. The brick for this building were burned from the clay obtained in the vicinity, the rough framing timbers from the trees growing on adjacent hillsides and all interior finish was of sugar pine from the same source. The building was open for public patronage for nearly sixty years and has never been visited by fire or other calamity.

Being the only hotel of its class in the early mining days it was patronized by the foremost mining operators of that period. At the second and third floors there were balconies overhanging the street and it was from the lower one of these that Horace Greely once delivered a public lecture after having made his famous ride from Carson City, Nevada, with Hank Monk Hank was known as the most fortunate as well as the most reckless stage driver of those auriferous days, realizing that they were making a late start Mr. Greely asked Hank if he thought he could make ie in time for him to deliver the lecture, Hank replied "Keep your seat Mr. Greely and I'll get you there on time." As Hank dashed recklessly down the long grades Mr. Greely vainly endeavored to keep his seat but at times became discouraged and mildly asked Hank if it were not possible that they were traveling a little fast, Hank's invariable reply was "Keep your seat Mr. Greely and I'll get you there on time." A short time after Mr. Greely's return to New York Hank received from him a handsome gold watch on the inner case of which is inscribed "Keep your seat Mr. Greely and I'll get you there on time Hank Monk." This watch is to now be in the possesion of Hank Monk's sister who resides near Reno, Nevada.

A year ago J. A. Raffetto, the present owner of the Cary House, began the razing of the building and Architect J. B. Ogborn prepared plans for a new structure to cost approximately $40,000. The building has a basement 20x60 and 8' below grade, there is a constant water pressure to a level 4'6" above finished floor of basement, this condition means approximately 300 lbs. pressure of lifting force to each foot of floor and 140 lbs average side pressure per square foot of wall surface, to overcome this pressure it was necessary to reinforce the side walls and anchor a 10" concrete floor to the bedrock, these walls were waterproofed both inside and outside with a heavy coating of "Maumee" waterproofing compound and the basement is dry and contains the plants for hot water and steam heating.

The first floor provides a lobby 25 feet by 50 feet dining room 30 feet by 40 feet ladies parlor, barber shop, bar room and reading room, these are all finished in white mahogany, pantry, kitchen, sample rooms, store room and helps rooms, the second and third floor provide 54 guest rooms, 12 of these are fitted with private baths, and all are fitted with hot and cold water throughout. The entire building is heated with Vapor Vacum System of steam heating. All the guests rooms are fitted with telephones to main office where they may be connected with public phone.

The plans and specifications were submitted for bids in Placerville, Sacramento, Stockton and Richmond, on the following items: Brick, Brickwork, Plumbing, Heating, Electric Wiring, Plastering and Painting, resulting in Richmond firms securing the contracts for each of the above items.

The brick salvaged from the old structure were used in the new but all new brick required were furnished by the Los Angeles Pressed Brick company.

E. M. Maloney was awarded the plumbing contract.

John G. Grierson, heating.

Pioneer Electric company, Electric wiring.

J. N. Long Plastering.

Zeb Knott, painting.

The above Sub-contractors employed Richmond mechanics almost entirely in the performance of their work and outside of these there were six Richmond mechanics employed in the interior finish.

Richmond Cal., Jan. 25, 1916.
Editor Daily News—
Dear Sir—

I was at the city council meeting on Monday night and heard the new jitney ordinance. In my opinion the U. S. Government would not stand for any body of men passing a law to stop men from making a living by any kind of work they saw fit. If the constitution of the U. S. forbids men from working as they see fit—then we had better move to Mexico of Russia or some other country where we can have more freedom. I never in all my life heard of such a ridiculous thing. I am an American and am for justice and all Americans should be for justice, but this ordinance is made to put the jitneys out of business and to favor the corporations. Why our city council should be so anxious to put the jitneys out of business is a mystery. The jitney is a necessity and should be protected the same as the corporations. If the council persists in putting them out of business the people should see to it that there is a new charter and a new council for the city of Richmond.

In justice to all.

I ramain yours,
An American.
